

Customer Testimonials

You need a team as dedicated to your success as you are.

With the help of our award-winning customer experience team, delivering projects on time and on budget while keeping your whole team on the same page will become the new norm.

Plus, if you ever hit a snag, we'll have your back with free, unlimited support at a 95% satisfaction rate.

Function Point alleviates the chaotic nature of operating creative agencies, internal marketing teams and professional service firms by helping teams connect each stage of project management.

Our goal is to make productivity more personable; to warm it up and give it a heartbeat. As a customer-funded business, we treat each of our customers as our partners. Because their success is our success.

Take it from them.

"A company is only as strong as its support and FP has delivered to our firm the highest level of support. We deal with other online software solutions on behalf of our clients and no other company comes close to the support FP give us."

John Penney, BlackDog Advertising

"Function Point has grown with us as we've grown as a company. Their support team is responsive when questions arise, and I know that everyone from their account team to product development and support teams are available when I need them. Their interest in soliciting feedback and involving customers in their roadmap development is so welcome."

Jen Maceyko, Firefly Partners

"FP's customer support team is really great and always willing to help you figure out how to accomplish your ideas. They also have a great suggestion board where users give ideas on how to make the product better. They have used a couple of mine already! It's a great community that works together to continuously improve and perfect the software."

Megan Sgroi, Studio 136

"The support we received from FP experts when we first started using it was excellent. They were always willing to hop on the phone to answer any questions or to help us troubleshoot. Customer service is amazing."

Rohit Jain, DXC Technology

"The folks at FP are always willing to help and take/iterate on product feedback. It is truly refreshing to see a company that cares."

Erika Putinsky, Koncept Design Studio
